

MINIATURES GUIDE

Seven figures: the six delvers and the Warden. Each one comes from a single text prompt for Meshy's text-to-3D generator, written to produce a model that survives resin or FDM printing at about 32 mm scale. The prompts are also in `minis/meshy_prompts.txt`, one per line, ready to copy.

THE SHARED STYLE PREFIX

Every prompt starts with exactly this text, so the set looks like one sculptor made it and every prompt carries the printability rules:

Stylized chunky tabletop miniature for 3D printing, 32mm heroic scale, bold readable silhouette, crisp deep sculpted detail, compact pose with arms and props held tight to the body, thick sturdy props, one solid standing model on an integrated round base of cracked cave stone, no background, no scenery, no text, no thin or floating parts.

PRINTABILITY RULES (IN EVERY PROMPT)

- One solid standing model on an integrated round base. No loose parts to glue, and it stands on the board.
- Compact pose, limbs close to the body. Arms and props are hugged, clasped or held diagonally across the body.
- Nothing thin or free-floating. No loose hair strands, thin weapons, wide capes, dangling rope or quills. Every prop is described as thick, stubby or blocky.
- No background, scenery or text. The base is the only ground.
- Readable silhouette. Each delver's role reads at arm's length: a lantern, a giant spade, stone fists, a pulley, two figures back to back, a rolled map, a boulder-giant.
- Card affinity in the sculpt. A heart window, a spade-shaped blade, a club buckle, a diamond clasp, matching twin helmets, a crown buckle for the face cards.

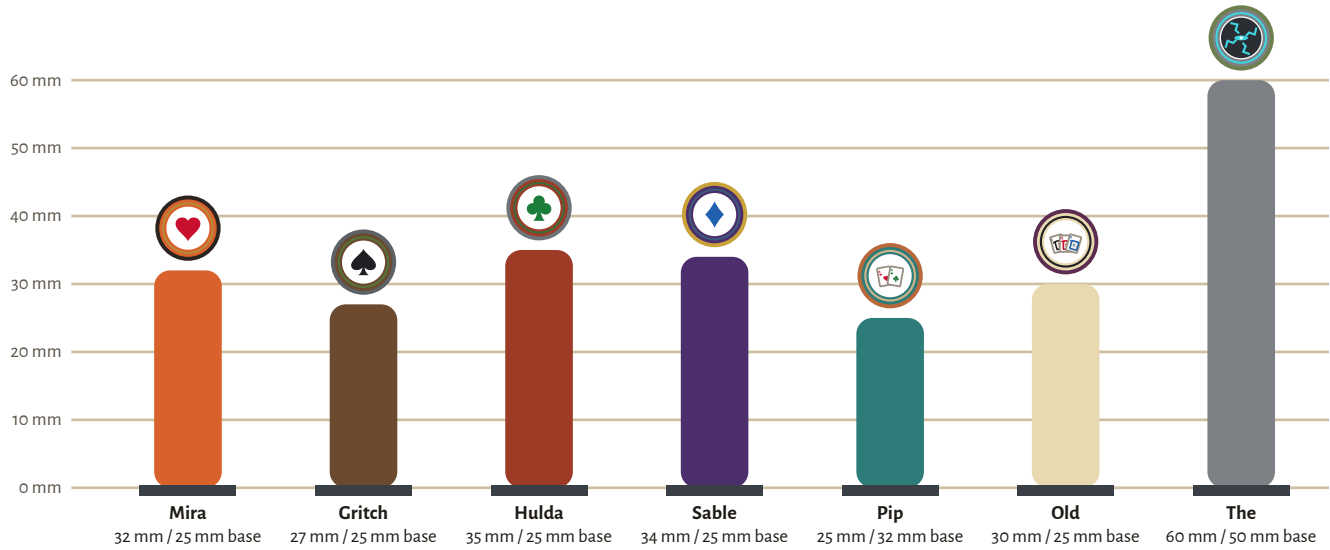

USING MESHY

- Prompts are at most 600 characters each (Meshy's text-to-3D limit); the longest here is 595.
- The repo's pipeline (`experiments/meshy-prototype/generate.sh`) calls the v2 text-to-3D endpoint in preview mode. `minis/meshy_batch.py` does the same for every figure, sends the negative prompt, and defaults to the sculpture art style, which comes back untextured and suits printing. Pass `--art-style realistic` to match the old script.
- Some Meshy versions ignore or reject a negative prompt. If yours does, run with `--no-negative`. The printability rules are already in the positive prompt.
- Generate 2–4 variants per figure and keep the one with the clearest silhouette and the fewest thin bits.

BEFORE YOU PRINT

- Scale to height. `meshy_batch.py --stl` scales each model so it stands its listed height, rotates it Z-up and sits it on the build plate.
- Decimate. Meshy's preview meshes are huge (this repo's snowman came back at about 1.9 million triangles). The script trims anything over 300k faces, which is invisible at this scale.
- Make it watertight. The script reports whether each mesh is watertight. If not, repair it (Meshmixer, PrusaSlicer's repair, or Netfabb) before slicing.
- Resin: tilt 30–45°, light supports under the base edge and chin. FDM: 0.4 mm nozzle, 0.08–0.12 mm layers, tree supports, base flat on the bed. The Warden prints fine hollowed on resin (drain holes under the base).
- Bases: 25 mm round for single delvers, 32 mm for Pip & Pell, 50 mm for the Warden. These match the board's chambers, which hold three tokens and two or three figures.

SCALE CHART

MIRA EMBERHEART, THE LAMPWRIGHT

Height 32 mm to the top of the head (on a 25 mm round base) · Prompt 575/600 characters

Meshy prompt

Stylized chunky tabletop miniature for 3D printing, 32mm heroic scale, bold readable silhouette, crisp deep sculpted detail, compact pose with arms and props held tight to the body, thick sturdy props, one solid standing model on an integrated round base of cracked cave stone, no background, no scenery, no text, no thin or floating parts. Mira the lamp-keeper, a young woman in a short padded work coat and sturdy boots, both hands hugging a big rounded brass lantern to her chest, a heart-shaped window on the lantern front, short hair tied back tight, a determined smile.

Negative prompt

thin parts, thin weapon, spear, sword, long pole, wide cape, flowing cloak, loose hair strands, whiskers, wings, chains, dangling rope, floating objects, separate pieces, disconnected parts, arms stretched out, dynamic action pose, background, scenery, landscape, text, letters, logo, watermark, transparent, glass, square base, low poly, multiple characters, crowd

In the game. Her lantern's heart-shaped window is Hearthlight: her ♥ cards light every vein.

Paint scheme (the same colours as the player aid): ■ ember orange #D9612B ■ soot black #2B2320 ■ brass #B8893A

■ warm cream #F2E3C6

Coat ember orange; boots, gloves and hair soot black; lantern brass; face and shirt warm cream. Paint the heart window a hot amber glow so she reads as the hearts deliver.

GRITCH UNDERBOUGH, THE BURROWER

Height 27 mm to the top of the head (on a 25 mm round base) · Prompt 584/600 characters

Meshy prompt

Stylized chunky tabletop miniature for 3D printing, 32mm heroic scale, bold readable silhouette, crisp deep sculpted detail, compact pose with arms and props held tight to the body, thick sturdy props, one solid standing model on an integrated round base of cracked cave stone, no background, no scenery, no text, no thin or floating parts. Gritch the burrower, a hunched stocky gnome-like digger with big hands, gripping an oversized short spade diagonally across his body with the blade by his chest, a spade-suit-shaped blade, thick handle, round goggles pushed up on his forehead.

Negative prompt

thin parts, thin weapon, spear, sword, long pole, wide cape, flowing cloak, loose hair strands, whiskers, wings, chains, dangling rope, floating objects, separate pieces, disconnected parts, arms stretched out, dynamic action pose, background, scenery, landscape, text, letters, logo, watermark, transparent, glass, square base, low poly, multiple characters, crowd

In the game. The oversized spade is Tunneler: his ♠ cards carry him up to 3 chambers at once.

Paint scheme (the same colours as the player aid): ■ mole brown #6B4A2F ■ iron grey #5C6166 ■ moss green #56713A

■ bone #E6DCC4

Jacket mole brown; spade and goggles iron grey; patches and backpack moss green; bone for teeth, buckles and the spade's edge highlight.

HULDA STONEFIST, THE BREAKER

Height 35 mm to the top of the head (on a 25 mm round base) · Prompt 594/600 characters

Meshy prompt

Stylized chunky tabletop miniature for 3D printing, 32mm heroic scale, bold readable silhouette, crisp deep sculpted detail, compact pose with arms and props held tight to the body, thick sturdy props, one solid standing model on an integrated round base of cracked cave stone, no background, no scenery, no text, no thin or floating parts. Hulda the breaker, a broad-shouldered muscular woman with thick braids pinned tight to her head, huge blocky stone gauntlets clasped together in front of her belly, a three-leaf club emblem on her wide belt buckle, heavy boots, planted confident stance.

Negative prompt

thin parts, thin weapon, spear, sword, long pole, wide cape, flowing cloak, loose hair strands, whiskers, wings, chains, dangling rope, floating objects, separate pieces, disconnected parts, arms stretched out, dynamic action pose, background, scenery, landscape, text, letters, logo, watermark, transparent, glass, square base, low poly, multiple characters, crowd

In the game. Stone fists for Shakedown: her ♣ cards knock glimmer out of rival packs.

Paint scheme (the same colours as the player aid): ■ rust red #9E3B26 ■ iron #6E7378 ■ moss green #3F6B3A

■ leather brown #7A5634

Tunic rust red; gauntlets and buckle iron; the club emblem and trim moss green; belt and boots leather brown.

SABLE VOSS, THE GEMCUTTER

Height 34 mm to the top of the head (on a 25 mm round base) · Prompt 584/600 characters

Meshy prompt

Stylized chunky tabletop miniature for 3D printing, 32mm heroic scale, bold readable silhouette, crisp deep sculpted detail, compact pose with arms and props held tight to the body, thick sturdy props, one solid standing model on an integrated round base of cracked cave stone, no background, no scenery, no text, no thin or floating parts. Sable the gemcutter, a slim poised woman in a long fitted coat ending above the knees, holding a chunky pulley block against her chest with both hands, a jeweller's loupe over one eye, a diamond-shaped clasp at her collar, hair in a tight bun.

Negative prompt

thin parts, thin weapon, spear, sword, long pole, wide cape, flowing cloak, loose hair strands, whiskers, wings, chains, dangling rope, floating objects, separate pieces, disconnected parts, arms stretched out, dynamic action pose, background, scenery, landscape, text, letters, logo, watermark, transparent, glass, square base, low poly, multiple characters, crowd

In the game. The pulley block is Pulley: a ♦ hoists glimmer straight to her vault.

Paint scheme (the same colours as the player aid): ■ deep violet #4B2E6B ■ gold #C9A23A ■ slate blue #3E5A7A

■ pale lilac #D9CCE8

Coat deep violet; clasp, loupe rim and pulley fittings gold; gloves and trousers slate blue; pale lilac highlights on the coat edges.

PIP & PELL, THE TWIN SAPPERS

Height 25 mm to the top of the head (on a 32 mm round base) · Prompt 589/600 characters

Meshy prompt

Stylized chunky tabletop miniature for 3D printing, 32mm heroic scale, bold readable silhouette, crisp deep sculpted detail, compact pose with arms and props held tight to the body, thick sturdy props, one solid standing model on an integrated round base of cracked cave stone, no background, no scenery, no text, no thin or floating parts. Pip and Pell the twin sappers, two short identical sappers standing back to back and pressed together as one solid sculpt, matching round helmets with small headlamps, one coil of thick rope worn across both their chests, arms folded, cheeky grins.

Negative prompt

thin parts, thin weapon, spear, sword, long pole, wide cape, flowing cloak, loose hair strands, whiskers, wings, chains, dangling rope, floating objects, separate pieces, disconnected parts, arms stretched out, dynamic action pose, background, scenery, landscape, text, letters, logo, watermark, transparent, glass, square base, low poly, more than two characters, two separate bases

In the game. Back to back, in step: a pair or a suited run costs them one action.

Paint scheme (the same colours as the player aid): ■ teal #2E7C7A ■ copper #B8683A ■ canvas tan #CDB68A

■ charcoal #33373B

One twin's overalls teal, the other copper; helmets the opposite colour for each; rope canvas tan; boots and belts charcoal.

OLD QUILL, THE CARTOGRAPHER

Height 30 mm to the top of the head (on a 25 mm round base) · Prompt 586/600 characters

Meshy prompt

Stylized chunky tabletop miniature for 3D printing, 32mm heroic scale, bold readable silhouette, crisp deep sculpted detail, compact pose with arms and props held tight to the body, thick sturdy props, one solid standing model on an integrated round base of cracked cave stone, no background, no scenery, no text, no thin or floating parts. Old Quill the cartographer, an elderly stooped map-maker with a big nose and a short thick beard, a fat rolled map clamped under one arm, a short walking stick as thick as his wrist resting against his body, a satchel with a crown-shaped buckle.

Negative prompt

thin parts, thin weapon, spear, sword, long pole, wide cape, flowing cloak, loose hair strands, whiskers, wings, chains, dangling rope, floating objects, separate pieces, disconnected parts, arms stretched out, dynamic action pose, background, scenery, landscape, text, letters, logo, watermark, transparent, glass, square base, low poly, multiple characters, crowd

In the game. The crown buckle marks the court cards: his first face card each turn is free, and his Jacks travel 4.

Paint scheme (the same colours as the player aid): ■ parchment #E8D9B0 ■ deep plum #5B2C4F ■ ink black #1F1F24

■ silver #A9ADB3

Coat parchment; hat and satchel deep plum; boots, ink stains and beard shading ink black; buckle, map ties and hair silver.

THE WARDEN, THE SLEEPING STONE GIANT

Height 60 mm to the top of the head (on a 50 mm round base) · Prompt 595/600 characters

Meshy prompt

Stylized chunky tabletop miniature for 3D printing, 32mm heroic scale, bold readable silhouette, crisp deep sculpted detail, compact pose with arms and props held tight to the body, thick sturdy props, one solid standing model on an integrated round base of cracked cave stone, no background, no scenery, no text, no thin or floating parts. The Warden, a hulking crouched stone giant boss monster, compact boulder-like body, huge arms folded over its knees, head sunk low between massive shoulders, deep carved crack lines across its rocky skin, thick moss on the shoulders, small deep-set eyes.

Negative prompt

thin parts, thin weapon, spear, sword, long pole, wide cape, flowing cloak, loose hair strands, whiskers, wings, chains, dangling rope, floating objects, separate pieces, disconnected parts, arms stretched out, dynamic action pose, background, scenery, landscape, text, letters, logo, watermark, transparent, glass, square base, low poly, standing upright, tall thin legs, weapon

In the game. The boss: after every round it walks toward whoever is winning and crushes delvers it catches.

Paint scheme (the same colours as the player aid): ■ granite grey #7D8084 ■ lichen green #6E7F4E

■ glowing cyan cracks #3FD4E0 ■ dark slate base #2E3238

Body granite grey with a dark slate wash; moss lichen green; paint the carved cracks and eyes a glowing cyan (thin white centre line, cyan glaze around); base dark slate.

PROMPT CHECKLIST

Figure	Chars	Style prefix	Round base	Compact pose	No thin parts	No text or scene	No fragile words
Mira Emberheart	575	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Gritch Underbough	584	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Hulda Stonefist	594	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Sable Voss	584	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Pip & Pell	589	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
Old Quill	586	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓
The Warden	595	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓

Checked automatically by `python minis/minis.py`, which refuses to write the prompts file if any rule fails.